Brief Note of Federal Judge Merely Expresses Regret at Attitude in Tax Arbitration Case.

Governor Eugene Talmadge Thurs day temporarily suspended his battle with utilities over rather reductions when the public service commission withdrew all enjoined rate orders and the chief executive indicated that nothing further will be done until the Johnson bill, which prohibits utilities from combating rate cases in the federal courts, is signed by President Roosevelt, to whom it was sent Wednesday afternoon by the senate.

The cancellation of the rate orders was announced as Judge William H. Barrett revealed at Savannah that he had answered Governor Talmadge's challenge of the federal court's authority to enjoin arbitration of increased tax assessments given those utilities which did not accept rate cuts by merely expressing regret over the governor's decision.

Announcement of the rate reduction cancellation was made by Chairman Jud-P. Wilholt, of the public service commission, who said that the state was paying all costs of the litigations. He gave no reason for rescinding the rate orders but it was perfectly apparent when the governor said "Wait until the Johnson bill is signed."

The orders withdrawn directed 10 telephone companies to reduce rates approximately 25 per cent and orwith utilities over rate reductions

Judge Humphries' Opponent Says Office Should Be Kept Free of Politics.

James V. Poole, attorney, oppos-ing Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton county superior court in the September 12 primary. Thursday issued tember 12 primary, Thursday issued the following statement regarding his candidacy:

A candidacy:

A candidate for judge of the superior court, by the very nature of the office sought, cannot have a platform, as his duties are judicial and not legislative.

I graduated from the University of Georgia, was admitted to the bar from the law school of the state university and began practicing law in Atlanta in 1008.

As to my qualifications for the office sought, I refer the voters to the lawyers and judges of Fulton county.

A judge of the superior court should be as free of politics, as it is humanly possible. He should have no authority to appoint and perpetuate the personnel of any interior court. His salary should be fixed by the state and not supplement by any local authority.

It being the duty of grand juries to investigate all county affairs, their investigations should be backed up and supported by the authority of the judges of the superior court at all times while investigating county matters; no obstructions no obstacles should be placed or thrown in their way.

Attorneys representing parties in receiverships should be paid reasonable compensation fer services rendered; but should not be paid fees out of all proportion to the services rendered and the value of the estate being administered.

I splemnly pledge the people of Fulton county, if entrusted with the duties of a being administered.

I solemnly piedge the people of Fulton county, if entrusted with the duties of a superior court judge, I shall enforce the laws fearlessly, that I shall not be guided by considerations of political expediency, nor influenced by friendships or prejudices, and I shall not be controlled by any group or groups and I will see that all who come before me, both litigants and lawyers, shall be fully and fairly heard, though they be ever so humble.

Mother's little helper needs "Vitamin D" Bread

* The Stone Baking Company is the sole baker of O Boy Vitamin D Bread

Fruits, vegetables, milk, cream and meats together contain all the known vitamins, with the exception of Vitamin D, in sufficient quantity for all human need.

But babies and growing children require an adequate daily supply of Vitamin D to help make their growing teeth and bones strong and sound. For this reason doctors recommend that youngsters be given cod liver oil or some other product rich in Vitamin D.

As the exclusive licensee in this territory, we are now incorporating in our VITAMIN D BREAD the Vitamin D extracted directly from pure cod liver oil by a process developed in the laboratories of Columbia University. This is the only bread in this community that contains the anti-rickets Vitamin D of cod liver oil itself-without the oil or its distasteful features. In every pound of this bread there is a minimum of 90 Steenbock Vitamin D units.

Bread is a daily food. Your children can now obtain a larger amount of this important Vitamin D by eating our VITAMIN D BREAD-plain, toasted or prepared in desserts. Tastes no different from our regular bread.

Today, when you buy bread for your family, buy VITAMIN D BREAD. On sale everywhere.

Research shows Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this "cereal way" safer than risking patent medicines?

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to relieve ordinary constipation. With each meal, in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Be sure to ask for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Bat-tle Creek.

Whenever any cotton is marketed, the net proceeds would be used to reimburse the treasury. Any balance which might be made by holding the cotton for higher prices would be distributed to persons owning equity in the bales on which loans were made.

The act would also authorize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make loans to the secretary of agriculture to carry out the same purposes as provided under the appropriation provision.

"It is marely a temporary loan." he said, "to enable the secretary to acquire control of this cotton so that it might be held for higher prices in order that the farmer may benefit. Smith said his bill would enable the secretary to take over cotton on which 10-cent-a-pound loans have been made by banks. Some of these banks, he said, are in need of the money and may be forced to sell this cotton without waiting for a higher market.

Three nursery rhymes, "Doctor Foster," after Handel, and "Simple Simon," after Couperin, arranged by Herbert Hughes, and a variation of "Old King Cole," with solo by William Quillian, will furnish a lighter mood to the program.

Francis Nunn and Chester Kitchings will take solo parts.

ARE REPORTED LOCATED HAVANA, May 10.—(P)—Police Chief Ignacio Dequesada revealed this afternoon that his men had located—and expected to arrest "at any moment"—Francis Oley and Percy Geary, wanted in Albany in connection with the kidnaping last year of John J. O'Connell.

Two American officers, one of them named Harold Brayton, arrived by airplane this morning to aid Cuban police. Dequesada said. Air and seaports have been watched carefully the last few days for the suspects.

being considered. A little earlier his committee had recommended that the commodities exchange regulation bill be enacted at this session to curb the activities of traders who might come to an otherwise unregulated commodity exchange from a federally controled stock market.

Hasting Scores Bill.

The action in the senate came after a long speech by Senator Hastings, republican, Delaware, asserting "You can't protect suckers" by passing laws, and vehemently denouncing the bill as "a definite beginning" in a transfer of business from private to governmental control.

Costigan supported his amendment with an argument that the trade commission by its background and experience was peculiarly fitted to take up the task imposed by the measure; that much delay would be incurred while a new agency was organized, and that much duplication of effort thereafter would be involved.

The question of which agency should administer the bill has been in controversy since the measure was introduced and even now is in dispute between the seante and house. The bill passed last week by the house vests administration with the trade commission.

of the kidnapers as he jumped from the top of the wall to the other side. The other turned to Wolf and said: "Stay where you are for an hour or we'll kill you. This is no stickup. It is a kidnaping."

The bill, of which Jones is the author, as it stands would apply only to wheat, rice, corn, oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, grain sorghums and mill feeds. Jones indicated if it were decided to include the cotton markets, the change probably would be made by an amendment in the house. bile start and move away.

He built his fortune from the oil fields of Ok-lahoma and California, withdrew from the speculative activities before the crash of 1929 and retired to southern California.

The cotton feature is certain to en-counter opposition. In the senate Chairman Smith, of the agriculture committee, is opposed to regulation of committee, is opposed to regulation of cotton exchanges.

The measure calls for a board composed of the secretaries of agriculture and commerce and the attorney-general to fix limits on futures tradings, and outlaws a number of existing practices.

Yesterday brought in a rarity in my Yesterday brought in a rarity in my experience. I was given a small specimen of the scarlet king snake (Lampropeltis eapsoides) by Mrs. J. N. Burton. It came to her hands by a rather devious route and I have not yet been able to trace its exact origin. I have seen only eight specimens in 14 years, which was the earliest entry in any notebook I have on snakes. I was quite young at that time and listed the species as a coral snake. Fortunately, I made a diagram of the color pattern which later proved to be this same species and not the coral snake at all.

The scariet king snake seems to be cyclical in appearance. I hope this early appearance of the species presages a year of plenty of the species. I would like to have a half dozen full-grown specimens from which to determine the life history, for it is almost completely unknown. If any of my readers run across a snake with red areas on the back which are en-circled in black, and with bands of white dividing each black circle, please do not make the mistake I made 14 years ago and kill it. Save it for me.

TRAFFIC MANAGERS TO ANALYZE CHANGES

A committee of traffic managers in Atlanta stores are assisting in drawing plans for the annual controllers' congress and management convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Association in Chicago, June 4 to 7. Free Care in Child Birth
Advocated by Doctor
NEW YORK, May 10.—(UP)—
A proposal that a system be established under which women, unable to afford adequate medical care in child bearing, be permitted to call upon a competent physician at public expense, was made here today by Dr. Howard W. Haggard, noted medical authority of Yale.

Speaking before a Mother's Day luncheon sponsored by the Maternity Center Association and the Henry Street visiting nurse service, Dr. Haggard suggested that the public should pay through taxes "the entire medical, hospital and nursing coats of child-bearing for every woman unable to provide for herself."

"The greatest freedom of choice of the physician should be allowed, nerself."

"The greatest freedom of choice of the physcian should be allowed, which is compatible with securing competent medical service," he said. "Only those physicians who prove themselves incompetent or indifferent should be excluded."

CHICOPEE CODE PLEA

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, May 10 .- Naional Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson late today denied the application of the Chicopee Manufacturing Corporation, of Georgia, for nodification of the cotton textile code to permit operation of four six-hour shifts daily in lieu of the two eighthour shifts specified by the code.

Officials of the company, which is subsidiary of Johnson & Johnson, leading manufacturers of surgical dressing in the country, were pre-dressing in the country, were prepared to double the number of employes at their Gainesville (Ga.) mills, had the application been granted, paying them the same wage for six hours' work as now received for eight. Some 600 workers are employed at the Gainesville plant, one of the finest textile properties in the south.

The administrator's action was taken on the recommendation of Assistant Administrator R. W. Lea, who reported that if one concern were to adopt this proposed plan many other concerns would be forced by various competitive reasons to follow suit, and this would have an extremely adverse effect on the small enterprises in the industry, of which there are some 600 or more.

Mr. Lea further informed General

Mr. Lea further informed General Johnson that the balance of the industry was solid in opposing the Chicopee company's proposal on the ground it would completely disrupt the effort being made by the industry to hold production down to a reasonable level.

Council Battle Foreseen at Meeting Monday in Effort To Override.

Mayor James L. Key Thursday vetoed a council ordinance establishing separate corporation for operation of the Albert Steiner clinic and a council battle is anticipated at the next meeting when an effort to override the mayor will be made.

There were 27 signatures to the proposal when it was offered Monday in council, one vote more than the two-thirds majority required to override thirds majority required to override Key's veto.

In disapproving the proposal Key reiterated his position in which he vetoed a similar proposition several months ago. He recited that he believed any such agreement would be illegal, that it would be unfair to other hospitals to allow Steiner to treat pay patients suffering from cancer and other allied diseases in that such a procedure would put the city into the practice of medicine in competition to other institutions.

The effort is to obtain a $250,000 petition to other institutions.

The effort is to obtain a $250,000 PWA loan for enlargement of the institution and also to obtain an additional $100,000 worth of radium, which it is said has been promised.

Members of the Fulton County Medical Society are on record as opposing any such move, and are certain to fight to sustain Key's veto.

It was predicted Thussday that in the event council overrides Key, the matter will be fought out in the courts with a view of nullifying the agree-

The total bonded indebtedness was reduced to $12,416,061, leaving a total of $11,-380,602 available for additional bonds if the city should wish to issue them. They will then take their place among the prison "unemployed" until tasks turn up for them. As soon as the former senator, who also was publisher of a number of Tennessee newspapers and known as "maker of governors" because of his political "power, had finished bathing he was given prison clothes. Dickens' Letters To His Wife Unfold A Tragic Story of Love, Disillusionment And Farewell

The first of a series presenting the hitherto unpublished letters of Charles Dickens to his wife, which throw light upon the reasons for their separation in 1858, will be published in The Constitution beginning next Sunday.

In placing the letters with the British Museum, Mrs. Perugini, Charles Dickens' daughter, explained that they were left to her discretion by her mother, who desired only that at some future date they should be made public to show that Dickens once loved her and that she was not at fault in the separation. The date of release has been determined by the recent death of Sir Henry F. Dickens, the last surviving child of the badly-mated pair.

In a statement accompanying the correspondence, Mrs. Perugini specifically disposes of a story, long current, that her aunt, Georgina Hogarth, was responsible for the separation.

The range of the collection is from the remonstrances of a young lover with a "difficult" sweetheart to humorous records of journalistic and other travels; from them to domestic tragedy in the death of a child in peculiarly sad circumstances, and, finally, to the sadness of parting after many years of married life.

The series of letters is enlivened, as only Dickens could enliven it, by burlesque triumphs and farcical adventures, by descriptions of odd fellow travelers, and by fresh revelations of his delight in praise. His exquisite sensibility is seen once more in references to Mary Hogarth, the sister-in-law who died at 17 and whose memory he cherished so

Berlin Fails in 11th-Hour

Effort To Enlist London on Its Side.

LONDON, May 10.—(P)—Eleventhhour German efforts to win British support for Chancellor Hitler's rearmament policies were said in reliable circles to have failed today.

General Joachim Von Robbentrop, disarmament question.

Likewise, it was authoritatively stated, the general failed to exact a

Today, we have three samples of handwriting, all penned by the same person. To the eye, these samples all appear different but, graphologically, they are identical. Mere change of slope does not affect the signs by which personality is revealed.

People who consistently write in these various manners may safely be said to possess the various characteristics just mentioned,—pro-vided that other signs in the script in the personality of an individual who worries about the style of his handwriting. Far better to discover the defect and remedy it than attempt to cover it up by a change in style. The ability to print at a high rate of speed is a sure sign of above-average mentality, if the printing is artistically correct. No person of ordinary intelligence can consistently print fast and accurately. The more that handwriting differs from the copybook, the greater it expresses the individual personality of the writer. And printing is about as far from the copybook as it is possible to get.

But slope alone may not be used as the final authority, because slope is indicative of mood, not personality.

the dangers of unfinished stairs to see the city by night from the roof.

Brewer, whose wife said he had been in ill health, apparently fell from one platform to the ledge a few feet below in the tower intended to hold the elevator machinery of the boomtime structure.

If his line of fall, police said, had deviated slightly on either side, he would have plunged to the ground through either the elevator shaft or the opening for a smoke stack.

Striking the ledge, his right leg was trapped in a hole in the masonry and this kept him safely anchored to the narrow platform through the period of delirium which physicians said must have preceded unconsciousness.

Control Bill Referred Back to Subcommittee on New Amendment.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(P)—The Kerr bill for control of tobaccoproduction suffered a severe setback in its legislative route today when the house agriculture committee referred it back to a subcommittee for consideration of an additional amendment.
Hearings on the bill, which would place a tax ranging from 25 to 33 1-3 per cent of the market value on all tobacco sold outside of the farm administration's reduction program allotments, were held two weeks ago by a subcommittee headed by Representative Fulmer, democrat, South Carolina. The measure went back to this same committee.

The amendment under consideration will come back as the lone representative of his class.

Mr. Cabaniss edited the Atlanta
Journal back in 1884, when Henry Grady was his chief rival on The Constitution

The subcommittee originally turned down this amendment. Later, Koppleman and farm administration to-bacco section officials urged the full committee to include it.

The subcommittee previously voted to report the bill favorably.

Chairman Jones, democrat, Texas, of the full committee, has indicated he would prefer to see the Bankhead cotton control measure, after which the tobacco bill is modeled, prove its worth before applying the same prin-ciple to another crop, The bill was introduced by Repre-

She went to her room and put on the gray and blue dress she had worn the night Gregory Rance had dined at Lynwood.

It was a large dinner, and the rooms were crowded when they entered the Chiswick's. There were a number of groups to pass through before she saw Rance approaching. He kept his glance averted and did not offer his hand. She had a sense of suffocation as he loomed up over her.

"My husband," she said in a low voice. "Mr. Gregory Rance."

FLYING ADVENTURES.

Those facts remind us that early pilots did not dare to take their planes very high. It seemed to them that there would be too much danger from falling if they went very high in the

The policy worked out fairly well.
There were many falls, but not many serious hurts. The famous Bleriot lived to tell the tale after crashing more than 50 times.

By 1910, however, there were a few men who were willing to dare the upper air; and among them was Glenn Curtiss, a great American flyer.

In his young manhood Curtiss was Glenn Curtiss, a great American liyer.

In his young manhood Curtiss was a maker of bicycles, and later turned to the designing of motorcycles. At the age of 28, he fook part in a motorcycle test, and traveled a mile in 26 2-5 seconds: which meant an average speed of 136 miles per hour!

That was the fastest man had traveled, but the year the record was made-up to the year the record was made-

The fame of Curtiss, however, rests upon his work in aviation. In 1908

Just before he started, on a morning in May, he was handed a letter, from the mayor of Albany, to be delivered to the mayor of New York.

Away he flew, part of the time soaring more than 1,000 feet; but on one point in his journey he had to pass through a gap in the Storm King mountain, and as he was doing so his plane lurched sidewise with a drop of fully 30 feet. A quick shift of the front control saved him, and he went onward.

The prize offer allowed two stops, and he took advantage of them to fill his gasoline tank; but he finished the journey to New York city, delivered the first letter carried by an American airplane, and won the $10,000 prize. The flying time was two hours and 50 minutes, for a distance of 142 miles.

Glenn Curtiss is honored for his work in bringing forth the flying boat or seaplane. He was not the first to present the idea, but he brought it into practical form.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 11, 1934. 4,000 MEN VS. BOOTLEGGERS.

Announcement from Washington that the government will mobilize a force of 4,000 for a campaign against bootlegging, for which an appropriation of $7,-000,000 has been made, is certain to bring marked changes in the situation regarding the sale of illicit liquors, especially in the states in which legal sales are permitted.

There has not been the reduction in bootlegging that was hoped would follow the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and as a result the government is not receiving the revenue it should from liquor sales throughout the country. For this reason the burden of directing the new attack upon the bootleggers of the country has been placed upon the treasury department.

The efforts of the department will be to arrest and prosecute dealers in illicit liquor because they have not taken out licenses. To avoid the danger of such prosecution all dealers will have to take out government licenses and subject their wares to government taxa-

In Georgia and other dry states the bootleggers can do this and still make money, because they have no legal competition. In the states in which sales are legal, however, the situation will be diflargely attributable to the recent statement of Joseph H. Choate Jr., federal alcohol control administrator, that bootlegging was still flourishing in every state in the union and that the country was drinking as much illicit liquor as ever.

The increased activity of government agents will affect the dry states but little, with the exception that their supply will be shortened by the greater difficulty of smuggling bottled liquors into the country. The coast guard will be given 61 planes instead of the 14 it now has, and the number of coast guard boats will also be materially increased. A certain decrease in the amount of fine liquors tain to result, with the probability that prices of these liquors will be increased, marking a successful step in the campaign against bootlegging in wet states.

In the control of illicit sales since repeal, but the campaign against be helped through next winter.

In Russia, too, of course the very reverse of what is taking place in Germany and in Italy, is being done in respect of woman. In no country on earth perhaps has woman attained so such a status of full equality with man as is the case in Russia. They even outdistance the United States in this matter. The new Germany and Mussolini's Italy wouldn't have zone the lengths they have, perhave gone the lengths they have, per haps, in relegating women exclusive-ly to the home, were it not for the staggering unemployment problem. Women were taken out of jobs because there were so many men available. Thus primarily the woman question is

The rural rehabilitation program for Georgia, which embraces the back-to-the-farm movement announced by President Roosevelt late in March, has been launched with Miss Gay B. Shepperson in charge as state relief administrator.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON.

SILVER WASHINGTON, May 10.—Agony was written all over President Roosevelt's face when he consented verbally last Tuesday to a compromise with the silverites.

They knew they were getting a good bargain because it obviously pained him so much. He looked like a man who had just been drained of the last drop of his blood in a trade. He was too weak to protest longer.

weak to protest longer.

The general supposition here is that Mr. Roosevelt has been reading David Harum again. At least that great horse trader of fiction unquestionably would sue the president for plagiarism if he could. Agony was Harum's trade mark. He was always groaning about someone getting the best of him, but no one ever did.

Remembering that, some of the silverites have been looking over the silver horse they bought at the White House more carefully. They are beginning to get suspicious that he is blind in at THOROUGHBRED As a matter of fact, there were two horses in the trade.

One was the nationalization of silver. Nationalization is a big word, but its meaning is not commensurate with its size. The idea behind it is that Mr. Roosevelt will take the silver off the hands of those gamblers (investors is a more polite term) whose names were recently sent to the senate by Treasury Secretary He will pay them 50 cents an ounce for their silver. That will net them a neat profit, not as much as they hoped for, but at least as much as they had reason to expect.

That will cost Mr. Roosevelt around $100,000,000, which is small change as far as the currency problem goes. It is a cheap price to pay for keeping the silver agitators quiet for a few months.

PLATER The other horse is a ghost.

That is the one which involves a congressional decree that the currency basis should be changed some time in the future to establish a 25 per cent silver backing for money and 75

The "some time" is what makes that colt look nebulous. Mr. Roosevelt would be permitted to work toward the goal fixed by congressional decree in any manner he wishes. Disinterested inquiry shows that, if he proceeded to carry it out in the normal way, it would be about 30 years before he accomplished the 25-75 ratio.

PROBING Our gold backing now is about five billions. Some people count it seven and three-quarter billions, but they include the stabilization fund and the general fund, which should not, strictly speaking, be counted as gold reserve for currency purposes. Our silver bullion reserves May 7 were a puny one and onehalf millions, not billions. The treasury also had a half-billion silver dollars, most of which are used as backing for silver notes. By the most optimistic estimates, you could not consider the existing silver backing in the treasury at more than one-third of a billion (roughly), because the silver dollars are only three-fourths silver.

On this basis, Mr. Roosevelt will have to acquire somewhere between one and one-half billions and two billions of silver at an average price of $1 an ounce before he reaches the 25-75 ratio. But there are only 50,000,000 ounces of silver produced in this country at the peak of production. So, if Mr. Roosevelt purchases only from domestic producers at the average of $1 an ounce, it means only $50,000,000 of purchases a year. To get one and one-half billions of silver reserve that way would Even the most optimistic democrat will concede that Mr. Roosevelt will not be president 30 years from now. PROSPECTS If Mr. Roosevelt were Senator Wheeler, he would not wait that long. He would hop out now into the world market and bid up silver prices and buy all the silver in But Mr. Roosevel is not Senator Wheeler.

In fact, Mr. Roosevelt recently was bitten by the gold bug. He went out into the world market to buy gold on the theory that increasing the world gold price would increase commodity prices. That idea did not work out. He bought the gold all right, but commodity prices refused to rise commensurately.

In view of that experience, there is no reason to believe Mr. Roosevelt will be in a hurry to try that same thing with silver. No one anywhere near the White House expects that he will do it.

EFFECT The only practical domestic effect expected from the silver plan as first reported would be to increase the excess reserves in federal reserve banks, which already are too high. At least the federal reserve board issued a release a few days ago saying that the one and one-half billions of existing excess reserves would prove dangerous if recovery comes, because banks would be encouraged to use that money for speculative purposes.

If Mr. Roosevelt buys one and one-half billions of silver he will issue money for it, using the silver as a base. That is not inflation in the ordinary sense of that word. It is only expansion of wellbacked currency by one and one-half billions. That currency will be added to the excess reserves in federal

The sum total of the transaction would be to double the danger pointed out by the federal reserve board a few days ago. That is another reason why you may be sure Mr. Roosevelt will

The Lion Has No Right To Boast When He Overcomes a Rabbit By Robert Quillen-

When Alexander's 30,000 whipped a million Persians, they won the greatest victory in military history. It was a triumph to satisfy any man's thirst for glory. It was a feat to justify endless boasting.

But suppose the million Persians had defeated Alexander. Would that have been a great achievement? History would have told the story in one paragraph, if at all.

What is the the significance of any victory-in football, a prize fight, a game of cards? It means that a superior has defeated an inferior. Is that remarkable? When a football team from some great university defeats a smallcollege team, sport pages make no mention of the game's unfairness. But what does it prove, except that 40 athletes can defeat 16? A man who is larger or stronger or better trained than others is boastfully or secretly proud of his ability to whip any of his fellows. But his pride does small credit to his sportsmanship. Would Jack Dempsey boast of his ability to knock down a midget? Or would any man feel proud of his ability to whip a child? When a big man beats a small one, he merely demonstrates a willingness to abuse his strength.

Any weak and craven outcast can do as much. Given an opponent weaker than himself, he also can be a victor.

Why gloat over any victory? The fact that you win is proof of your superiority, and how can a superior fail to win? If your opponent is superior, he wins: If you are exactly equal, the match is a tie. The victory of either settles the question of superiority, if there is a question, but when all is done the net result is that four is greater than two.

Delight in conflict and rejoicing in victory came down to us from jungle ancestors to whom victory meant life and defeat death.

Vanity still delights in being "better" than the other fellow—smarter, richer, socially superior-but a whole man who is generous does not

I am assuming that this meal was of that sufficiency, because we journalists who attended the trial used to watch Mr. Bryan punish his victuals in the dining room of the hotel at Dayton, where they served nothing much but hot, fried fodder, as though he were eating for two weeks in advance, and marvel that a man so smart in so many ways could have the gall to profess temperance. Pancho Villa, peon hero who led a nation to revolt against the injustices of their overlords, is the comic, understandable and thrilling character presented in "Viva Villa!" which starts today at Loew's Grand theater.

Wallace Beery, primarily a very human screen comedian, deserts his customary type of characterization to play the role of Villa in this production. The surrounding cast includes Leo Carrillo, Fay Wray, Donald Cook, Stuart Erwin, George E. Stone, Joseph Schildkraut, and Katherine de Mille.

The Baer person gives off a lovely light as he burns the candle, quite briskly, at both ends. It is not lovely in the accepted sense of the word. But he is such a big, daffy fellow that he gives off lots of entertainment and brightens the corner where he is, so to speak.

He is ever so much more fun than Gene Tunney, for instance, although not as worth while, according to the worth-while standards. But he is more fun. There is a sort of tragic pathos about him. He is destined for the part he is playing. But he is entertaining.

THE CRACKERS' RETURN.

A couple of victories in Memphis would bring an astounding number of people to the Cracker ball park on Sunday when New Orleans appears as the foe.

The baseball public is talking basebali. The names of the players are heard everywhere. Buster Chatham, Byrne James, Harry Taylor and all the others are becoming household words.

This was always baseball's great strength-talk of the team. When the fans ceased to know and call the names of the players familiarly and knowingly as if they were lifelong friends, baseball went into a slump.

This team is the first one which has awakened the citizens to cheers and huzzahs. They are talking baseball again. Baseball, not just

And with the hiring of Spencer Abbott the team has come right along. It has brought baseball back to Atlanta.

THE HIRING OF ABBOTT.

I recall the hiring of Spencer Abbott. The directors had tried and tried, without success. And then they called Wilbert Robinson to ask whom he would recommend. He was at Dover Hall, near Brunswick.

"Robby," said one of the directors over the phone, "who do you want to recommend for this job?" "Spencer Abbott," said Robby.

CUBS CONTINUE DODGERS, 12-8

Each Club Gets Three Circuit Blows: Bruins Stretch Lead.

CHICAGO, May 10.—(P)—A strong wind blew across Wrigley field today, wafting high hit balls toward the right-field bleachers, and as a result the Cubs and Dodgers collected three home runs apiece as Chicago pounded out a 12-to-8 victory.

This circuit-swatting spell, capped by Chuck Klein's eighth homer of the season, followed one which produced seven homers yesterday. That may not be a record as the books list games in which 10 homers have been hit by two teams and one pair in which Pittsburgh clouted ten in two consecutive contests, but it looks as if it ought to be.

The home run hitting started in the fourth inning when Gabby Hartnett pasted his sixth of the season with two mates on base to cap a four-run rally that gave Chicago a 6-0 lead. The Dodgers came right back and Linus Frey, Sam Leslie and Tony Cuccinello all hit for four bases, each time with the corners vacant. Billy Herman started the home half of the fifth with a homer that drove Owen Carroll off the hill.

Leslie Munns replaced him and was Carroll off the hill.

Leslie Munns replaced him and was tapped for four more runs before the inning ended but from then on he and Ray Lucas checked the Chicago batters except when Klein clouted his homer in the eighth.

Brooklyn pounded Lon Warneke for 16 hits but outside of the three homers the Dodgers couldn't do any scoring until the seventh. They got a run then and three more when Leslie doubled with the bases full in the eighth. The final tally came after two were out in the ninth. The Dodgers played with a radically revised lineup which saw only three players in the positions they held yesterday and the batting order completely changed.

The victory put Chicago a game and a half in front of the New York Giants, who lost to St. Louis.

Does Great Relief Job

Art Jacobs (above), the Cracker left-handed screw-ball artist, who got off to a slow start, finally crashed into the win column along with the rest of Spencer Abbott's boys yesterday when he did a great job of stopping the Memphis Chicks after relieving Bud Thomas. Jacobs, who won 17 games for Abbott's Portland club last year, retired 13 Memphis hitters in order in pitching four and one-third innings of hitless and runless ball. He received credit for the victory. The Crackers, while winning their ninth game of 12 played on the road, remained neck and neck with Chattanooga,

NEW ORLEANS, May 10.—(P)—A thrilling extra-hole battie provided a punch today to championship second round matches in the women's southern golf tournament that began in a drizzling rain and ended with the sun—feeble but friendly—peeping through the clouds.

In announcing the appointment, Captain R. He added that it was hoped some of the leading American pros might also be secured for practice from time to time.

PULL TENTS.

The golf prophets pulled down their tents and closed shop when Mrs. Dave Gaut, of Memphis, president of the W. S. G. A., and a four-time champion of the south, fell before the steady game of Mrs. Leon Wolf Jr., of New Orleans, 2 and 1.

The Tennessee veteran, deemed almost certain to go into tomorrow's quarter-finals, couldn't get right on the heavy greens to overcome the overhead shooting of Mrs. Wolf.

Aneila Gorczyca, the champion, of Fort Worth, Texas, found a hard battle on her hands for nine holes in Mrs. Ann Kennedy Parish, another Tulsaite and southern runner-up in 1930, but she got down to business on the in trip and holed out 2 and 1.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 10. (P)—The draw today for the opening Scotch foursome matches tomorrow in Walker cup competition, paired the leading teams of the United States and Great Britain against each other in the feature match.

Johnny Fischer, the Cincinnati youngster, is the spare on the Ameri-can side, and Leonard Crawley and Tony Torrance on the British.

It was generally agreed that the foursomes would result in an even split leaving the decision to the eight singes matches to be played, Saturday. Goodman and Little, who had successive medal scores of 70 and 72 in cessive medal scores of 10 and 12 in their last two practice rounds, were conceded an edge, as were Moreland and Westland, but most of the experts felt McLean and McRuvie were sure to beat Ouimet and Dunlap and that

The battle between Tolley-Wethered and Goodman-Little promises to be at thriller. The two former British am ateur titleholders have been playing well together—each man strokes the ball alternatively in the Scotch four somes—and like their American opponents, have not been over par in foursomes practice.

CHOICE OF MEN.

Although the two captains agreed several days ago to throw the names in a hat and let the draw fall where it would, they fell back on the ortholox practice of numbering their teams, and pairing 1 against 1, 2 against 2, etc.

The player is either panic stricken before he starts the hole or he score.

The best cure for such cases is to see how badly you can play the hole. This will prove that the trouble is mental and not physical.

YOU never saw anything quite so smart for summer wear. They look cool, are cool. Yet they possess all the style of regular weight flannel. They're here in double-breasteds, too, which make great "mixers" when worn with white flannel slacks at night

By JOHN L. COOLEY. NEW YORK, May 10 .- (AP)-Stocks plunged to new lows for 1934 today before the violent rise in the Chicago wheat pit finally changed the trend in the share market.

The drop in shares during the morning ranged from 1 to 5 points in many issues, which carried industrial price averages to the lowest since December, but selling slackened by midday, and there was a substantial rally during the early afternoon, as wheat soared.

Losses were fully regained in some instances, and more than half regained in several. The list soon turned dull, however, and slid off a little before the close, when net losses of 1 to 3 points were numerous. trend in the share market.

however, and slid off a little before the close, when net losses of 1 to 3 points were numerous.

The Standard Statistics price average of 90 leading stocks showed a net loss of 1.9 points, closing at 76.6, which was the lowest closing level since December 26. The 1934 high of 93.8 was reached February 5. The day's turnover of 2.132,410 shares, with the exception of last Monday's volume, was the largest in weeks.

Commodities Firm.

Commodity markets generally were inclined to be firm, but cotton futures at New York gained only 20 to 25 cents a bale. In bonds, speculative issues moved with stocks, but United States governments were again in demand, several reaching new highs.

Wall Street sentiment remained highly confused, and chart readers thought the fact that several issues broke through the lower resistance points established Monday was a bad sign. On the other hand, some usually well-informed circles reported that good investment buying on scaledown had finally reappeared in the market. Corporate or business news developments were meager. United States Steel's shipments of finished steel, as announced for April, were 643,009 tons, up 54,800 from March, and the best since last August.

The breadth of the early selling was evident from sharp recessions.

The breadth of the early selling was evident from sharp recessions in a number of preferred stocks and in several comparatively inactive common issues. Among more prominent issues, Case was a wide loser early, getting down shout 5, although this was cut to 2 points, finally. Allied Chemical, once off about 4, was down little more than a point at the close.

Issues off 1 to 2 points at the less included American Can. Be'bleonce off about 4, was down little more than a point at the close.

Issues off 1 to 2 points at the close included American Can, Be'hle-hem Steel, Chrysler, duPont, General Motors, Loew's, Norfolk & Western, Pennsylvania, Nash, Union Carbide, and United States Steel. Santa Fe lost about 3. Utilities were under less pressure than recently, and held up fairly well. United States Smelting closed up about a point, and Radio preferred B finished 2 higher.

STOCK OPINIONS.

FENNER & BEANE—While the attraction of lower prices may bring some outside buying as a supporting influence in early dealings Friday, the probability of a lower rallying point appears to be indicated.

BEER & COMPANY—Thursday afternoon's rally was not impressive enough to be conclusive. It is our impression that further confirmation is needed before the market takes on a favorable outlook.

DOBBS & COMPANY—Further aggressive buying in Chicago would be likely to prevent much weakness in the stock market Friday* but otherwise the outlook is not clear.

1140-50 Citizens & Southern Bank Bldg. ATLANTA, GEORGIA CURB LIST RALLIES

By BERNARD S. O'HARA.

NEW YORK, May 10.—(P)—Another flurry of selling forced the curb market lower today, but price recovered substantially in a rebound later. Utilities and metals came back well, although some of the specialties failed to respond.

The list was easier from the start and selling predominated into the noon period. Pressure lifted around the start of the fourth hour and a brief recovery occurred later in that period. Down Chemical lost 6 points to close at 85. General Tire & Rubber and Natomas Company each ended around 4 points lower. Newmont Mining cancelled a 3-point decline while other metals ended generally steady.

American Gas & Electric erased a point loss and Electric Bond & Share finished off a shade after holding rather narrow most of the day. Hiram Walker came back strongly but losses of 1 to, around 2 points persisted to the last in Sherwi-Williams, Pan American Railways, Aluminum Company of America and Pittsburgh Plate Glass. Greyhound Corporation improved more than a point in a substantial turnover.

Transfers approximated 258,000 shares compared with 177,000 yesterday.

News from Washington on silver

News from Washington on silver was not encouraging to the inflationists. Liquidation was quite active early in the session and there was some scattered selling here by houses with New Orleans or other southern connections. The early declines in stocks and silver also were oppressing influences.

December sold up from 11.49 to 11.73 in the late trading and closed at 11.68, or about 5 points off from the best under realizing.

Washington reports that silver discussions were continuing, were interesting to the trade, but traders appeared to feel that more tangible developments were needed as a guide to market commitments.

CHICAGO, May 10.—(P)—Excited speculative buying rushed the wheat market up late today to within 10 cents of the farmer's old-time ideal, $1.00 a bushel.

A jump of five cents, the maximum limit allowed for wheat in any one day, was witnessed. Oats also rose the limit, three cents for that grain.

Sensational unofficial crop damage advices and prospective widening of drought areas, with dush clouds dark-been reached. Incidentally, prices were up nearly 19 cents since the low made in April.

After the government crop report was received, most grain traders construed the showing as decidedly bullish, the indicated production of winter wheat, 461,471,000 bushels being 25,000,000 bushels below the average of recent private estimates.

Market Outlook MAX BUCKINGHAM

NEW YORK, May 10.—(UP)— Trades tonight were confused in face of soaring wheat prices and declining

There was little cheer in Wall Street. Wheat prices are skyrocketing on strength of the drouth burning out grain fields over mid-western plains. But these same drouths, if continued, will bring reduction to the purchasing power of farmers, reflecting in retail trade, the motor car industry, and farm equipment, shored ting in retail trade, the motor car in-dustry and farm equipment shares. Mid-western and north western railroads will not have so much grain to haul and their carloadings will re-flect this loss. TRADERS WARY.

STOCKS RECOVER. STOCKS RECOVER.

The question arises whether strength in wheat can carry the stock market. Heretofore in the more than two weeks of declining stock prices, little attention has been paid to wheat. Yet the stock market today, after plunging sharply to new lows for the year, suddenly firmed as wheat reached its five-cent maximum. Some brokers believed wheat chiefly responsible. Others felt the pick-up was normal, reflecting short covering after rather extensive short-selling this rather extensive short-selling this morning. At the close the market was fractions to more than 3 points lower and trading volume exceeded 2,000,000 shares with the greatest trading coming on the deeling.

2,000,000 shares with the greatest trading coming on the decline.

"The market has gone down awfully fast." one observer reported tonight, "and normal expectancy would be for some kind of a rise soon. However, it is still dangerous as long as the stock market bill hangs over us."

The conservative viewpoint still would call for the sidelines, even though some prices on outstanding industrials tonight were attractive. dustrials tonight were attractive. (Copyright, 1934, by United Press.)

Culbertson on Contract By ELY CULBERTSON, Vorid's Champion Player and Greates Card Analyst.

Down 1400! The heaviest losses at the bridge table are unquestionably due to overbidding, many of them occurring when the opposing players fail to make a bid at all. These results come about because either one partner or both insist on playing the hand either in the wrong suit or at too high a contract disconding the tract, disregarding the storm signals that may be out as to the reefs of distribution.

In a recent rubber game at Crockford's Club, New York, I saw a partnership, through failure to draw the correct inferences, utterly fail to reach a makable game contract and, on the contrary, reach another game, contract at which they went down 1,400 points. Most of the errors of omission and commission unquestionably are chargeable to the eventual ably are chargeable to the eventual declarer. The hand and bidding were:

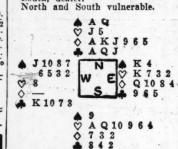

The bidding: South West North East Pass Pass 10 Pass SNT Pass

South's justification for his opening bid was the very fine 4-4-1 distribu-tion of the hand. His partner's response of two diamonds came as a matter of course but South's rebid of two spades was very bad. It not only misled North as to the strength of the hand but the distribution as well. Predicated upon this bid North's two-no-trump bid was correct. North's two-no-trump bid was correct. When South, however, bid three diamonds North should have taken this bid as a warning not to bid no-trump unless the club suit was under perfect control. The later double by West was unwise as it afforded to the North and South players an opportunity to rescue themselves from

However, North reasoned that South had two fine suits. hearts and spades; that the assist of the diamonds could well show top cards in that suit, and that the ace of clubs was a sure stopper for the club suit, although it would stop the suit only once, so he decided to let bad enough alone. When the question was passed around to South he reasoned that his partner must have understood his message and that cer-tainly North must be prepared for an opening lead of clubs or for a shift to that suit after an opening heart lead, so he also passed.

The hand probable was misplayed, but the result was that North and South went down four tricks—1,400 points—and the gods of distribution, as though to add insult to injury, presented their opponents with a small slam, which was made laid down, on the yery next hand. Dear Miss Chatfield: I have been married only a year, but during that short time a very perplexing situation has developed in my life. When we were married my husband was in debt to his younger brother for some payments on his car. This made the free to borrow money, too, from time to time. If we were not at home when he called he would take the car snyhow. If we refused to lend anyanyhow. If we refused to lend any-thing he wanted he became angry and blessed us out. Of course I bore the brunt of it. In an argument that arose | ver one of these incidents I left my usband and went back to my family; but we were soon reconciled and are now living together.

but this is not strange, as she didn't speak to her own mother for nine months. The situation is intolerable and creates no end of embarrassment for us all. Isn't there something I can do to make matters smoother between us? Left as they are, I am afraid trouble will develop again between me and my husband.

Sometimes members of a family can sometimes members of a family can enter into financial arrangements with each other and settle them amicably, but just let an in-law be introduced into the picture and trou-ble is almost sure to follow. Solomon said "The borrower is servant to the lender," and so it has always been. The lender pops the whip and the servant can't take it.

The first step toward restoring peace then is to clear up all the indebtedness. Let there be no monetary obligation on either side. As long as the brother feels free to borrow the car for which he has partially paid, this assumption of proprietorshop will be a constant irritant to the husband and wife. And so long as he feels that the money is not being paid back as fast as he thinks it ought to be he will lay the blame on his brother's wife. No chance for peace as long as the debt remains unpaid! Everybody mad with everybody else and getting madder! Life getting more and more complex because of fusses and feuds! Everything tinged with bitterness because of hate and animosity!

healing it; tell them that you are willing to let by-gones be by-gones, that you love your husband and want to be on good terms with his family

This willingness on your part to forget injury and forgive those who have wronged you will endear you to your husband. It will shut the door through which trouble is sure to enter, and establish your marriage on a firmer basis than it has ever been. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.
